

A workspace concept for city of Dietikon

Dietikon's administrative office faces the task of assessing its own workspace-planning needs in the context of the city's new Real-Estate Strategy 2040 and its general efforts to achieve its legislative goals. We helped the administration to draft a portfolio strategy that accounts for its workspace needs and is also suitable for use in the larger context of planning for the "Town Hall II" project. The aim here was to accommodate the needs of the various city departments in a common workspace concept.
